Descendants of Donald Gillanders

Generation No. 1

1. Donald1 Gillanders was born May 17, 1820 in Applecross, Rosshire, Scotland, and died April 16, 1904 in Cheam District, B.C.. He married Margaret Ann Dawson August 14, 1846 in Peterborough, Ontario, daughter of William Dawson and Martha Motherseell. She was born April 26, 1826 in South Monaghan, Bailieborough, Ontario, and died November 22, 1914 in Vancouver General Hospital, Vancouver, B.C..

Notes for Donald Gillanders:
In Ontario, before they left for the West in 1873, Donald and Margaret Gillanders owned land across the road from the Dawson Cemetery in South Monaghan Township (Lot 5 Con. 2). This farm of 200 acres was later owned by John Rutherford. Margaret and Donald donated a piece of this property (directly across from the Dawson Cemetery on the Second Line) in 1860 to build the first frame church. This church was in use until the Bensfort Church was built in 1883. Donald Gillanders owned the East half Lot 13, Con. 4, to the East of the Hamlet of Bensfort.

From: "The Chilliwack Progress" Wednesday December 3, 1958

The history of the Gillanders family of Chilliwack, began in 1873 [the Fall] when Donald Gillanders came with his wife and seven children from Ontario to claim over a 1000 acres of land, at what is now known as Cheam. [Another note from the archives of the Historical Society of Chilliwack: Donald came out to Cheam/Chilliwack first and a few months later, Margaret Dawson and seven children. The journey was made by rail to San Francisco, then by boat to New Westminster, B.C., then up the Fraser River by Indian canoe to the Chilliwack Landing, September 23, 1873]

Donald and his five sons, William, [Clark] Wesley, Milton, Albert, and Joseph cleared the land and planted crops. The worst enemy of those early pioneers was the flooding of the Fraser River.

Prior to the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Gillanders' farmhouse was an overnight stop for the provincial police travelling to the coast often with prisoners from the north country in custody. Prisoners were allowed a night's rest on the kitchen floor under the watchful eyes of the police.

The family's activities centered on the religious life of the community. Through their efforts and assistance from the neighbours, the Cheam church was built. Donald's son Wesley, hauled the first load of sand for the foundation. When the Methodist church was founded in 1887, Mr. Gillanders attended the B.C. Conference as a delegate.

The Gillanders family brought into the valley, a horse powered threshing machine to do their own work and custom threshing as well. It took four teams of horses, travelling in a circle to turn the wheel and revolving rod that powered the separator.

The early road from Cheam to Chilliwack and the Landing, led around Little Mountain, following every curve. The other side of the road was lined with thick brush and the story is told of a man who, recognized the sounds of a cougar and knew that he was being followed. He lit one match after another on the trail and attributed his safe arrival at a farmhouse [Mr. Thompson's farmhouse] to the lighting of the matches.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillanders lived to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary in 1896. Their five sons and two daughters, Martha who became Mrs. John Ryder and Margaret whose married name was Mrs. William Bayly, were with them for the celebration together with 21 of their 23 grandchildren.

[Addendum note: Mrs. Frances Fairey Leith June 26, 2000. The two grandchildren not present for the Golden Wedding celebration were Laughlin Arthur Ernest Gillanders born Chilliwack November 15, 1881. His father's widow married John Barber. Laughlin had an elder brother William, the other missing grandchild].

William, the eldest son, was clerk of Chilliwack (spelling of Chilliwack in the article is this way) municipality and had gone to New Westminster to attend court. The Fraser froze while he was away and a canal was cut through the ice to allow boats to go through. William, a friend [ a Mr. Lewis] and two Indians were in the last boat to cross and before it reached the other side, the ice broke away at the turn of the tide. The boat was crushed and all four men perished.

Milton and Albert Gillanders farmed in the valley for many years. A descendent, Alvin Gillanders still lives on part of the original 1000 acres at Cheam.

A second narrative: Source unknown and undated

The Fraser floods referred to above were in 1875, 1876, 1882, and 1894. The last year particularly caused great setbacks to all the farms in the district, but the Gillanders family and their neighbours kept at it despite the hardships.

In the early days the Yale Road through Cheam followed the Hope Slough and ran behind where the church now stands. When the present shortcut was built, it brought the road to its present location in front of the church. When the trustees of the church, including three members of the Gillanders family tried to get a clear title to the land they placed it north of the Yale Road. The records in Victoria revealed the old surveys which placed the church land south of the Yale road. The church land was re-surveyed at a cost of $500 in order to obtain clear title. The church became the centre of community life and many families of many faiths joined in its activities.

In those days people in Cheam, Chilliwack, and Sumas were all very well known to each other. They shared occasions of both happiness and sorrow. Two tragedies in the Gillanders family saddened the entire valley. In November of 1890 young Mrs. Albert Gillanders died. Her funeral was one of the largest ever held in Chilliwack. Tragedy had previously struck the Gillanders family January in 1882 when William, the oldest of the Gillanders' sons was drowned in the Fraser River. In his capacity of Clerk of Chilliwack Municipality he had gone to New Westminster on a court case. During his stay the river froze over. A canal was cut through the ice and several boat loads of people were rowed across. William, a Mr. Lewis, and two Indians were in the last boat to cross the river. Before the boat reached the other side the ice broke away at the turn of the tide and the boat was crushed and all men perished.

As time went on more and more of the rich farmland was cleared. There was a good market for livestock and produce. River steamers carried capacity loads to new Westminster. The valley population grew. Many of the younger members of the family left the valley seeking other occupations and many of them remained on the farms. There is still a representation of the family on the fertile lush land of the valley, keeping alive the name of one of the earliest pioneer families of the Chilliwack district.

On Donald's tombstone it states that he was 84 years-11 months when he died.

Four Men Drowned Opposite New Westminster While Crossing Fraser River
State of the Weather
(Special to the Colonist)
New Westminster January 28

This afternoon about 4 o'clock two whites, with two Indians, attempted to cross the river at the upper end of the town, but were caught by the ice when about halfway across and the canoe upset throwing the occupants into the water. They were seen struggling in the water a short time and then disappeared. Two men had crossed safely a short time previously and no danger was anticipated. The names of the men are not definitely known, but are supposed to be Mr. Cawley, senior, of Chilliwhack, and Thomas Lewis, of Sumas, both of whom had been down on County Court business, and were about to start for home.

Weather continues very cold, highest thermometer for the last three days 21 degrees. Eleven degrees of frost; ice has been moving with the tide in the river since 4 pm; but was frozen completely across in the morning.

Later - New Westminster 8 P.M.

The two white men drowned in the river today are now known to be Thomas Lewis of Sumas and Wm. Gillanders of Chilliwhack.

The Westminster Tragedy

The lamentable accident at New Westminster on Saturday through which four lives were lost is a most melancholy occurrence. Messrs. Gillanders and Lewis were enterprising and industrious citizens and both leave families. Mr. Lewis was a J.P. [gazetted in the Victoria Colonist May 16, 1880], and Mr. Gillanders was the son of D. Gillanders, Esq., J.P. Had a steam ferryboat been provided for the crossing.....

Notes for Lachlan Arthur Ernest Gillanders:
Article from the Victoria Daily Colonist Sunday, September 20, 1970 by Eric Sismey

Eighty-eight year old Laughlin Gillanders and his younger half-brother, Jack Woodward Barber, are Similkameen pioneers. They live at Keremeos in a cottage surrounded by a colorful garden. You'll not see their place as you drive through town because it lies at the foot of a tall mountain on the other side of the river.

Laughlin Arthur Ernest Gillanders - never known as Art or Ernie - was born in what is now Chilliwhack on November 15, 1881. After the death of his father Laughlin's mother married John Barber and in 1890 the family, which included an elder brother William, moved to Chopaka in the Similkameen where John Barber had taken up land. He served for a time as Canadian Customs officer.

Laughlin does not remember all the details of the trip nor the exact number of days on the road. The first part from Chilliwack to Okanagan Lake was by train, by steamboat and then by wagon. The family stepped from the train at Sicamous where the journey began up the Spallumcheen on R. P. Rither's little stern wheeler Red Star to Fortune's Landing - it's Enderby now - and from there by wagon over a bumpy road to Okanagan Landing.

But Laughlin does remember the trip down Okanagan Lake on board the new, twin screw SS Penticton owned jointly by Captain Dolman Shorts and Thomas Ellis of Penticton. He remembers her captain too. there was nothing at Penticton; a landing was made on the beach. From the lakeshore the family and their possessions were moved by wagon to the Thomas Ellis ranch house where the night was spent.

Away in the morning after a farmhouse breakfast to Dog Lake - it's Skaha now - along by Billy Kruger's place on the Reserve to the benchlands, now known as Kaleden Flats, past the freighter's barn at the Junction ranch and up the long hill to Hiram Inglee's place at White Lake where they had lunch. From there the road skirted Horn Lake [Green Lake?], ducked down through Olalla to Keremeos and along the Similkameen Valley to Chopaka, about a mile west of the Boundary. It was dark by the time the log house was reached - their home for many years.

In pioneer days the schooling was usually somewhat patchy. If the parents had little themselves there was likely no schooling at all. However Laughlin and elder brother, William, were fortunate and while the kitchen table was the school desk and mother the teacher she grounded her boys thoroughly in the three R's while their stepfather taught them the ways of farming, of haying and horses and cows.

Through the 1890s and into the present century Fairview was booming. In 1896 when Laughlin was only 15 he, with elder brother William, tooled four-horse teams from the Chopaka ranch with loads of hay and farm products. While on the road he learned to recognize the first pioneers of Similkameen and lower Okanagan: Theodore Kruger, Customs, postmaster and storekeeper at Osoyoos; Okanagan Smith who planted the first orchard on the shores of Osoyoos Lake in Washington in 1857 and who sold fruit to mining camps on both sides of the line in the late 1880s. There was F. X. Richter, R. L. Cawston and W. H. Lowe, Similkameen ranchers and other early figures he has forgotten.

Fairview at that time was the largest town in the Interior. people had money to spend. They spent it for luxury goods, for gee-gaws and the clothing fashions of the day sold in Shatford's general store. then too a lot of money was shoved over the mahogany tops of bars in the several saloons. Yes! Fairview was booming; it was noisy too. By day and by night the stamps slam-banged at the Stemwinder, the Jim Dandy and half a dozen other mines. Wagons rumbled down the Gulch loaded with cordwood to feed hungry boilers. And machinery, supplies and materials was freighted down from Okanagan Falls.

In the Oro (Oroville) Washington newspaper Madre d'Oro, Volume 1, Number 1, dated August 27, 1892, an advertisement showed that S. T. Stanton's Oro-Penticton stage made the journey north to Penticton on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays in eight hours. Elsewhere in the first issue of the paper we read: "This camp [Fairview] is on the same gold belt we are , and it proves without a shadow of a doubt that we are on the most extensive gold belt in the world."

But Fairview did not live up to the promise in the newspaper. Soon after the turn of the century, after the gold rich lodes had been worked out, the town slowly faded away. There is nothing left there now but the shell of the little jailhouse, the ruins of Moffat's log saloon a mile or so up the Gulch and the pile of ashes, tumbled down bricks and twisted iron left after the Hotel Fairview - Big Teepee - burned to the ground in 1902.

In 1900 Laughlin Gillanders accepted a job in Shatford's well stocked store. He saw Fairview during its upswing but like so many others did not recognize the beginning of the end. But, no matter, during the year he worked behind the counter Laughlin decided that this was not the sort of work he wanted to follow. He left the store and did not see much of Fairview again.

It can hardly be expected that Gillanders should remember details of work he followed 50, 60 or 70 years ago. Besides freighting to Fairview he worked for a number of years for Dave Innis at Keremeos, frequently driving Dave's four horse rigs from Princeton to the workings at Copper Mountain. Time has changed the Innis livery and freight barn to a Shell garage and service station. At other times he drove for Harry Tweedle driving Dave's four horse rigs from Princeton to the workings at Copper Mountain. Time has changed the Innis livery and freight barn to a Shell garage and service station. At other times he drove for Harry Tweedle whose Keremeos Centre Hotel and livery buildings stood at the forks of the road until a few years ago and one summer he drove from Kelowna taking supplies to the irrigation dam under construction at Canyon Creek.

In 1916, Laughlin Gillanders, he was 35 at the time, answered the Canadian army call for experienced outdoor men. He enlisted in the 69th Forestry Battalion. The 69th sailed for Europe on the SS Olympic. Most of Gillanders service was spent in the Vosges mountain forests where timbers were cut, lumber sawn for front line dugouts, duckboards and other military use. When the German army was at the gates of Paris in 1918 the rumble of gunfire was plainly heard and the fire flash seen at night. After Armistice in 1918 the 69th battalion returned to Canada on board the SS Scotian.
Now it is necessary to back track a bit. While freighting has been mentioned above, Laughlin Gillanders spent many years as a professional trapper. Beginning in 1910 and for more than a quarter of a century his trap line extended from Ashnola Forks into and through the Cathedral Lake country. Early in the game he used Harry Tweedle’s cabin for several years but eventually built cabins on Gillanders Creek and Pine Flat. Several lakes adjacent to his trap line, originally barren, he stocked with trout moved from one lake to another in a bucket.

After Laughlin arranged his affairs to his satisfaction he devoted his entire time to trapping. Summers were spent in the maintenance of cabins, trap line trails and extensions, emergency stopping places, food caches, firewood stacks and other chores in preparation of winter. He always lived and trapped alone. Sometimes the weather at the top of his mile-high line was mighty cold and on one occasion when the thermometer outside the cabin door read 40 below he noticed a porcupine a dozen feet up a tree. Several days later, the cold snap still unbroken, porky was alive, still there and seemingly not bothered by the cold.

In reply to a question Gillanders remarked that he had always made a fair living; he had been his own boss while living in a country he loved. This, he claims, is as much as any man should expect. His catch consisted of marten, mink, otter, weasel, lynx, bob-cat and skunk. All of which fetched a good price, especially mink and marten before fur farming days. One winter he trapped 25 coyotes and on another he took a cougar which brought him a bounty in addition to the value of the skin.

Laughlin Gillanders’ Ashnola country shelters a large band of California bighorn. Early railroad construction and westerly migration in the United States exterminated them except those in a few isolated pockets in British Columbia. Even here they were almost wiped out by senseless 19th century slaughter, often by Europeans. Among them, Archduke Ferdinand of Austria whose assassination in Sarajevo, Serbia, triggered the First World War. After strict protection in the closing years of the century he watched the bands recover only to be shocked after return from the war in 1918 to find the bands decimated again. Protection restored, he has seen the bands recover slowly.

Laughlin has done his share of hunting and shooting. He always killed for the pot, and who is more entitled to a spike buck hanging in the meat house than a lone trapper 30 snowshoe miles from the nearest store. Firearms have always interested him, the 30.06 being his favourite cartridge. He always shot hand-loads with bullet weights suited to his particular needs. On the trap line he carried a lighter arm.

Gillanders is glad to see an area, far too small at present, once part of his trapping territory, set aside as Cathedral Lakes Park. It is not large enough, he claims. Too much of its fragile alpine flora and Bighorn range is unprotected from grazing cattle. More of its mountain majesty, unsurpassed in Canada, should be included within the park boundaries. Surely, he maintains, we should match park areas with those on the Washington side. This is my country! I want to see it preserved for others to enjoy; a place to climb and scramble as I did in my younger days for no other reason than to gaze in silent wonder to the mountain vastness and the snowy heights around me.

3. MARThA2 GILLANDERS (DONALD1) was born 1852 in Ontario. She married JOHN FERRIS RYDER 1874. He was born November 03, 1832 in Kingston, Ontario, and died June 08, 1916 in Chilliwack, B.C.

First organist in the Cheam Methodist Church? 1886.

Notes for JOHN FERRIS RYDER:
Ryder Lake is named after John Ryder. He was one of the first settlers in the Cheam District, B.C. Originally from Kingston, Ontario

From a newspaper clipping:
Area's namesake recognized the land's beauty

Ryder lake was named in honour of John Ferris Ryder who in 1873 took 160 acres in what became known as the Ryder Lake District.

According to the late Chilliwack historian Casey Wells, Ryder had the foresight to "believe that the (Ryder Lake) foothill area would become a residential district of beautiful homes."

Ryder was the eldest son of John and Mary Ryder of Ontario. He was born in Kingston, Ont. on Nov. 3, 1832.

He arrived in Victoria, B.C. in 1862 having travelled there via Cape Horn. His career included farming in the Cariboo District and then being a freighter with the Hudson Bay Company. Using oxen, he took the goods the 400 miles from Yale to Barkerville. In the 1860s he was granted the first bridge contract with the Municipality of Chilliwack.

In 1874 he married pioneer daughter, Martha Gillanders. The couple had six children and one granddaughter. John Ferris Ryder died at home on June 8, 1916 in his 84th year.

Before Ryder's arrival, the Ryder Lake area was known by some as Chilliwack Bench and by others, as Parson's Hill. Its first school house opened in 1909.

By 1916 shingle mills began operating in the area. Its post office, known first as Fruitvale, and then as Fruitdale, opened in 1926. It closed in 1940 and mail was then delivered as a rural route from Sardis.

The Ryder Lake Community Hall was built in 1930. The first meeting of the Ryder Lake Women's Institute was held in that building in 1934. The institute was chartered in 1934.

An improved connecting road up the mountain was constructed between 1935-1937. Access to the community however was cut off for several days due to snow drifts in the winter of 1935-1936.

The first community store was opened in 1937 and at the same time, dairying began.

John Ferris Ryder's property was purchased by Vancouver businessman H.J. Bailey at about that time. The transfer made Ryder Lake itself inaccessible to the public.

Electricity came to what was lovingly called "the hill" in 1947.

Two of John Ferris Ryder's brothers also settled in the Chilliwack area. They were twins Cory and James Ryder.

Cory became a member of the Chilliwack Municipal Council. James farmed in east Chilliwack and eventually lived with his sister Matilda Harrison in the Harrison House hotel.

Children of MARTHA GILLANDERS and JOHN RYDER are:

i. ALBERT 3 RYDER.
   ii. MARGARET RYDER.
   iii. MARY RYDER.
   iv. FLORENCE RYDER.
   v. STANLEY RYDER.

4. CLARK WESLEY 2 GILLANDERS (DONALD 1) was born 1857, and died December 17, 1922. He married ARABELLA HENRIETTA HOLMES March 31, 1880, daughter of WILLIAM HOLMES and CHARLOTTE MCCULLAGH. She was born 1858, and died October 15, 1929.

Obituary: Source and date unknown

"Pioneer of Chilliwack to be Buried Here Thursday"
Clarke Wesley Gillanders, aged 63, a pioneer pre-emptor of the province, passed away in the Vancouver General Hospital on Sunday after a brief illness. He came to British Columbia in {1874 - error: 1873} and for many years was a resident of Chilliwack, New Westminster and Vancouver.

Born near Peterboro, Ontario, Mr. Gillanders came west when eighteen years of age, reaching Vancouver by way of San Francisco. His mother, brothers and sisters accompanied him and the family settled in Chilliwack. There a small community including the Kipps, Wells, Evans, and McCutcheon families grew up. Young Gillanders was married to Miss Arabella Holmes, a school teacher of Chilliwack, and for many years they lived on their pre-emption which was situated between Chilliwack and Rosedale. Later the family moved to New Westminster, where they resided for several years. In 1910 they came to Vancouver and Mr. Gillanders for many years was a leading member of Mount Pleasant Methodist Church. Mr. Gillanders leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters, Cyril of Vancouver, Howard of Killam, Alberta, Eustace of Vancouver; Mrs. George E. Irwin of Port Hope, and Mrs. Frank Fairey of Vancouver. The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the parlors of Armstrong & Hotson, Reverend O. M. Sanford officiating.

Notes for ARABELLA HENRIETTA HOLMES:
In a conversation with F.L.T. Fairey, Arabella Gillanders lived at 2435 West 6th Avenue, Vancouver until her death - possibly it was 1941. She was the owner of the house - likely paid for by the proceeds of the estate of William Holmes, pioneer settler of Burnaby, who had sold his holdings after his timber clearing rights on his land in Burnaby had been exhausted. The moneys from his estate would likely have reverted to his first wife Jane(?) or Sarah(?), and on her death gone to her surviving daughters, one of whom was Arabella.

From Karen Leith Farr

"Family folklore says Arabella was a scholar, wrote poetry, and was also very clever with her hands. Apparently the local First Nations people used to share their patterns and designs with her. She went to Chilliwack as a teacher and married [Clark] Wesley Gillanders, son of a successful farming family in the region. She was said to not enjoy being under the control of her mother-in-law and went back to look after her aging parents in New Westminster. William Holmes owned hardware stores, a laundry, and a sawmill so [Clark] Wesley Gillanders never went back to farming. Arabella owned a lot of Vancouver real estate and assisted her children to buy their homes."

Another Pioneer Mr. M.F. Gillanders Passes Away
Farm taken up as homestead is his place of residence for forty-three years

Residents of the district, and particularly those of long standing, were surprised and grieved to learn on Saturday of the passing early that morning [March 26, 1927] of Mr. Milton Fletcher Gillanders at his home at Cheam. While not in the best of health for a year, Mr. Gillanders was going about as usual Tuesday morning when he suffered a stroke, which was followed on Saturday by another. Mr. Gillanders was in his 69th year.

the funeral took place on Monday afternoon from the family residence to the IOOF cemetery and was very largely attended. Rev. A. W. Ogston, of the United Church, Cheam, conducted the services. The pall-bearers were pioneer friends of the deceased viz; C.H. and J.A. Evans, E.A. Wells, Wm. Newby, L.L. Chadsey and Wm. Knight.

Together with his brother A.H. Gillanders, the late Mr. Gillanders came to Chilliwack valley in 1873 arriving on the 23rd of September of that year. Mr. Gillanders, Sr., came out from the east a few months earlier. Deceased immediately took up a heavily timbered homestead at Cheam and the same farm was his home from then until he passed away. At the time of Mr. Gillanders arrival here there was no road beyond the western end of Little Mountain and in company with his brother A.H., the late D.T. Nelmes and Cory Ryder, he cut and brushed out a roadway along the base of the mountain and along the Hope Slough to his home. Portions of the old road along the mountain side may still be seen from the hard surfaced highway.

The very fine farm with its excellent buildings to be seen on the left of the pavement beyond Cheam and across the slough, was actually hewn out of the virgin forest by Mr. Gillanders, a worthy tribute to his rugged vitality and industry. Mr. Gillanders married Hilda Maud Cory of Chilliwack, who survives him as do also two daughters and........

She was born 1863, and died November 25, 1890. He married (2) Bertha Maude Vickerson 1894. She was born July 1871 in Bridgetown, Prince Edward Island, and died November 03, 1948.

Notes for Albert H. Gillanders:
A narrative by Cyril William Donald Gillanders (date unknown)

"My Picture of Uncle Albert"
Albert was born in South Monaghan, near Bailieborough, Ontario on April 18, 1861. His father, Donald Gillanders was born in Applecross, Rosshire, Scotland in 1818 [later records suggest it was 1820 - to be confirmed], and his mother Margaret Dawson was from South Monaghan, Ontario, youngest daughter of a Yorkshire family. His parents were married August 5, 1846 and came to Chilliwack in the fall of 1873 when Albert was 12 years old. He was the fourth surviving son of the five brothers who came with their parents and 2 sisters to Chilliwack.

He went to school in Cheam and was made ready to take studies in New Westminster to become a B.C. school teacher. He taught at Sumas. He and his former teacher in Cheam were offered quite a teaching job in the B.C. Interior but refused it and proposed to his father that he take over the original home farm as his father and mother were aging. He planned to build a double house. It was agreed and his father reserved 10 acres for himself and Albert took over the rest.

The old house was taken down and a new one put up. I remember the timbers [for the foundation] being hewed out of logs on my father's farm [Cyril was son of Clark Wesley Gillanders] and one day I was asked to take a message to the carpenter 3/4 mile along the road. It was the first time I had ever gone alone, the woods were on both sides of the road most of the way.

Albert was married on December 31, 1886 in Victoria to his school teacher sweetheart Miss Helen Andrews - she was also my teacher August to Christmas 1886 as Miss Andrews, and January to June 1887 as Mrs. Gillanders. One incident I remember was closing day summer of 1887. I was home for lunch and my mother loaded my arms with flowers and said she would be along in a few minutes. When I got to school many visitors had already arrived and as I was going to my seat second from the front, my teacher (auntie) seeing the flowers came to my seat, took the flowers, and bent over and kissed my cheek. It was a hot, hot day and I can still feel the dampness on my cheek when I think of it. Albert ran the farm and I saw him and Auntie quite often. In the fall of 1890 she passed away in childbirth and there was much grieving among the family and neighbours. Shortly after, Albert went to Huntington, got a Notary Public Commission and was made a Justice of the Peace. I guess he intended to stay there. Occasionally he rode home on his horse and said hello. I don't know how the farm carried on but I guess it was only for a year as he came home to Chilliwack and built a brick building on Main Street and opened a furniture store. When we went to live in New Westminster in 1892 we took some new furniture from his store. My brother [ likely Howard Gillanders] and I spent two weeks at his and Grandpa's home July 14 - 28, 1894 just after the Great Flood had gone down, and Albert was living with his parents then. There was quite a house full - Grandma and Grandpa, his sister Margaret, and her four children (their father was in England then), and Fred Gillanders, his nephew. That winter Albert married again to Bertha Vickerson and the next summer, Auntie had us four (my brother, 2 sisters, and myself) up for two weeks. We had known Bertha so well and she often lived with us when we were on the farm, so we had a lot of trouble trying to get our younger sister to say "Auntie" instead of "Bertha."

Viola, his daughter was born, and she was a lovely child, so plump and jolly, and was a baby in arms on August 5, 1896 when his father and mother celebrated their Golden Wedding. It was lovely weather - 21 out of 23 grandchildren were there, 4 sons and 2 daughters, one brother (William the oldest) had died 14 years previous. Such a crowd from all over the valley and it was a two day celebration. There was so much food all who could came back the next day and had another feast. His little girl sickened and died in 1899 or 1890. She died at our house in New Westminster where she had been brought to see if the doctor there could help. On her last day she was so restless that I held one of her hands and my mother (Margaret Dawson Gillanders) held her other hand and we joined our two hands over the bed and she lay quiet and still. When we parted our hands she started her restlessness again, so we held hands and she passed away very quietly.

I visited Auntie and Uncle in 1897 in October. By that time he had another building on Main Street opposite his building for furniture, and while I was there the new building was destroyed by fire. I am not sure, but I think he sold the other building and its contents. I visited him again in July 1900 and he had a clothing and shoe store in partnership with a Mr. Parsons. Later he sold his interest to Mr. Edward Nelmes. I think that was his last mercantile venture.

His son Earle was born February 22, 1903 and shortly afterward the double house (his home and Grandpa's) was destroyed by fire. They went to our old house that was vacant. Albert had a small house put up and they were on the farm again. In April 1904, Grandpa died and they wound up the estate - sold out and as Aunt Bertha's father and mother were very old, Albert and Bertha moved into her mother's home on the Banford Road and things went on as they do on farms. So Earle knows the rest.

Little happenings that I remember:

As a small boy from 5 to 11 I saw quite a bit of Albert and one or two incidents stand out. Albert was an exceedingly strong man and he was an expert at building a load of hay - two men on the ground would drive their forks into a pile of hay and up it would go. Albert would drive his fork (always a very long handle) into the hay and his knee halfway along the fork would pry and lift and drop that hay into position in one motion. One day on our farm that fork handle broke under the strain and he very nearly fell off. He took the broken fork and hurled it out of the field onto the road. I slipped along the fence, found it, and took it to the house and sawed off the splintered part and hid it for a few days. I saw father and the man looking for the fork to put a new handle onto it but they gave up looking and after a while I got a man to round off the end of the handle and I had a fork of my own.

One day two wagons were hauling sheaves of grain to the barn and Uncle Albert was in the field pitching the sheaves onto the wagon so I went to try my fork. I pushed them up until the load got too high for me, then Uncle set me to bringing the further ones away up to the wagon. He found out I could do quite a bit so he made me stay all afternoon till they quit.

He and I got on fine and I used to tail him around and he always got me into a job and I had to stay.

In 1894 Uncle Albert and my father worked our farm on shares and as the flood had wiped everyone out there was no grain on our visit. He was working on our farm one day; the raspberries were all ripe and they were above water so he sent me to gather some for dinner. I picked some and when I showed him what I had, he just about took my head off, said he could eat five times that amount and so to get to work and pick a lot. So naturally I did.

Once when I was very small mother went to visit her father and mother in New Westminster and I stayed at Grandma's. in the early morning I heard a noise outside the window- I got up and looked out and Uncle Albert was just getting on his horse to ride to his school. I am sure it was at Sumas, 8 miles away and as I watched him in the dim morning light, he looked so big and his horse so tall.

Albert was best man at his sister Margaret's wedding December 31, 1884. I was 4 years old January 24, 1885. I remember two things, the wedding party - their backs to us, the Clergyman his back to the wall. Grandfather was at one door leading upstairs and Grandma at another door leading to a bedroom, both about six feet away from the Clergyman and standing up. So I asked my father why they were standing there and he said "I guess they are afraid Auntie may try to run away." My cousin Willie sat beside me and had tassels on his button holes and I finally tore one off.

Once we were living on the farm we had a Holstein heifer and mother and we kids were in the vegetable garden and we got to throwing cabbage etc., over to the heifer. After a while we noticed that she was in misery, all bloated up, so mother sent me on the run to father who was working with Uncle Albert on his farm. Uncle said he got a broomstick 12” long - tied a rope to one end - shoe it into her mouth like a bit, bring the rope up over her head behind her horns and tie it to the other end of the stick so that she can't get the stick out of her mouth. Back I went and did as I was told and the heifer chewed away and got the gas up and was alright in a couple of hours.

Albert took quite an interest in politics - was school trustee several times and was a counselor. In 1900 I visited him and he took me over to see the dredge digging the big ditch which diverts part of Elk Creek into Hope Slough. The dredge was just at Chilliwack Central Road, floating in the ditch and piling the earth high on both sides.

Uncle Albert had a great habit of giving me a conundrum and then letting me wait two or three months before he gave me the answer. One such he gave me when he was home one day from Huntingdon.

Select a noun in the plural number
A Foe to quiet sleep, and slumber
Add an s and make it Singular
The word no longer in the plural but the singular
The change made sweet what bitter was before.

It was six months before he gave me the answer and as a 10 year old I tried to find it in the dictionary. He finally gave me the answer "Caress" - "Caress" I often thought of it and one day I saw a word and realized that it could be worked in some way. So I figured out a rhyme following the style of his question.

Take the plural name of a group of males
Told about in Romantic tales
Regarded by all with respect so tender
Add an s and change the gender
And singular now one female is seen
Where a masculine class before had been

Once he was at Victoria and I don't remember how it was, but I slept with him the night he returned and he told me about the fine new boat "The Charmer" that he had come over on from Victoria and all he had to do was turn a button and his stateroom was all lighted up. That was the first time I had heard of light without oil lamp.

He was always a strong helper in the Cheam Church and was a responsible member of the board and he was a real good man and lived a life that was respected by all who knew him. He was well acquainted with the druggist Mr. Muir where I served part of my apprenticeship and different times when he was in New Westminster he would tell me how well Mr. Muir said I was doing.

Earle and his family have a great heritage and as it says in the "Good Book" - "A man dies and his children come to honour or dishonour and he knows it not." But Uncle I am sure would be delighted could he know what honours his son has achieved.

8310 Banford Road  Albert Gillanders House  Two Illustrations included

Albert Gillanders was eighteen when his family moved to this area from Ontario in 1873. In 1912, he hired local contractor Ernest Hill to build this solid square dwelling of concrete blocks. It is similar in design to the Walker house with its central chimney, hipped roof, and front dormer. Three cement columns support the verandah roof. As can be seen in the older photo, the original house had a covered side verandah and second storey balcony. The side verandah was removed in 1971 and the addition shown in the recent photo was added at that time. The farm has been owned since 1963 by Mr. and Mrs. L Bakx, and the house remains an excellent example of an early concrete block building.

A letter to Francis from Mr. A. J. Hogg, Schoolmaster, who lived at 3 Parkfield Drive Liscard was sent to 5 Poole Road, Egremont (Cheshire) - in possession of Frances Leith. It was addressed from St. Mary's Church, Liscard, August 3, 1907. The letter reads: "6 Edinburgh Road...3rd August 1907.. My dear Frank.

I need not say how really sorry I am to lose you but I would, I hope, be the last in the world to oppose what you regard as your ultimate better prospects. All that I can do is to wish you in the words of the Psalmist; "good luck in the name of the Lord." I will try to be in on Tuesday at about 11 am if you care to call. If I should not see you, I cannot I think do better than to wish you every happiness in your new life and to hope that you will at some time let me have the happiness of hearing of your success. It is my very fervent hope that you will remain true to the saving doctrines of our dear old mother Church and that you may never lose sight of the fact that it is righteousness that exalteth the individual as well as the nation. My kind regards to your mother: take care of the boy who is committed to your charge and believe me to be Yours in all sincerity, A.J. Hogg"

The significance of this letter is that William Joseph Fairey had paid for all his sons to be apprenticed to various trades. Francis was only at his apprenticeship a few days (actually boarded at some shop) when William was visited by Mr. Hogg who persuaded William to let Francis become a pupil teacher at St. Mary's School, as he showed promise, etc., etc. William died in an accident (fall from a ladder, probably sustaining a fractured skull or subdural hematoma) and this changed the plans for all the family. The boy in the letter was Francis' younger brother, Frederick to whom he was perhaps the closest and whose name he gave to his eldest son. Source: Francis Fairey to his daughter Frances Leith.

When Francis Fairey arrived in Canada, he came to Gastown in Vancouver, probably in later 1907. His older brothers, William and Ernest had preceded him, and were apparently tradesman such as carpenters or bricklayers. They had agreed that Francis would be the family member to get an education. Francis was robbed of his funds when he arrived in Vancouver, and apparently ended up rather cap-in-hand to his brother in Victoria. There he was reportedly introduced to a Superintendent of schools who sent him to Quesnel as a schoolteacher. It was likely at some time in Quesnel that he met Hilda Gillanders who he married later, also a local schoolteacher. It is said Hilda was taken in unsuspectingly by a local madam to be properly housed on the upper floor of a brothel! Francis left Quesnel not long after, likely without Hilda at that time, to take a post as a teacher at a small private Tribute To Dr. F.T. Fairey written by Ernie Hyndman in the Newsletter of the B.C. Association of District Superintendents and Inspectors of Schools, Vol. 71/72 No. 6 November 24, 1971.

"We have lost a good friend in the death of Dr. Frank T. Fairey. We shall miss his warmth and enthusiastic participation in our annual banquet. His ageless and unchanging interest was just as certain a month ago as it had been in the previous half a century.

The Frank Fairey story in B.C. educational history began in 1907 with his appointment in Quesnel as a teacher. Subsequently he served on the original staff of the Vancouver Technical School in its formative years, first as an annex in the King Edward High School, then, to downtown Vancouver Labour Temple and finally to the present location on Broadway East. He served as Vice-Principal in 1930. He came into the Department of Education in 1938 as Director of Industrial and Vocational Education and in 1945 he succeeded Dr. S.J. Willis as Deputy Minister of Education.

Dr. Fairey met the challenge of the reorganization of school districts under the 1946 Public Schools Act when 650 school districts were reduced to 75. In his seven years as Deputy Minister his leadership was responsible for the solid foundation of the larger administrative unit in British Columbia.

Recognition of his stature in educational leadership was acknowledged by the United Nations in his appointment on three educational missions - in Burma, Japan, and Ghana.

His tremendous energy and vigour was manifest not only by his significant educational contributions but also by his activities as a member of Parliament, his involvement in the armed forces (Lieutenant Colonel in the Irish Fusiliers) and in a full church, community and family life.

We sincerely regret his passing and express our sympathy to Mrs. Fairey, his two daughters and three sons. (Thanks to Ernie Hyndman for this tribute)

Bill Lucas represented the Association at the funeral."

Commercial Journal Obituary:

Dr. Earl Burdett Gillanders, known to many as Gill, was one of the great men of the Canadian mining industry.

Dr. Gillanders died suddenly in Vancouver on November 24, 1980. He was 77 years of age.

Born in Chilliwack in (1903), Dr. Gillanders' early academic training was in geology, although he added the discipline of engineering at a later date. He was awarded a PhD from Princeton University in 1932.

His career in the mining industry spanned 47 years, beginning in 1933-1935 when he was mapping geology in northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland. Returning to Canada, he worked as a geologist with Gold Hawk Porcupine Mines and then as manager of mining and exploration, Eldorado Mining and Refining Company, during the time when the Beaverlodge mine was discovered and developed. From 1947-1952 he was vice-president and manager, Rio Canadian Exploration Limited, moving to vice-president in charge of operations for Rio Tinto Mining Co of Canada Limited in 1953, and executive vice-president in 1955. In 1975 he was named executive vice-president and director of Rio Algom Mines Limited (the successor company). He resigned from Rio Algom shortly after they acquired Atlas Steel in 1964.

Joining the direction of the then fledgling Lornex Mining Corporation, Dr. Gillanders was a bastion of strength and integrity during negotiations between Rio Algom and Lornex. He was also director of Western Rolling Hills Mines and Canada Tungsten Mining Corporation.

Dr. Gillanders was a member of the CIM (receiving the Medal for Distinguished Service in 1961), Association of Professional Engineers, Ontario and BC, Geological Association of Canada; Prospectors and Developers Association; and was president of the Canadian Metal Mining Association from 1961-1963.

He will be remembered by many in the industry who have worked with him as a hard and disciplined task master but a kind and thoughtful man.

Notes for Mary Ethel Lougheed:

Obituary Vancouver Sun September 2002:

Gillanders- Mary Ethel [nee Loughheed]. Died peacefully on August 28th, 2002 in her 103rd year at Purdy Pavilion, UBC. Pre-deceased by her husband Earl (Gill) in 1980. Survived by her beloved daughter Mary, son, David and grandson, Drew (New York), numerous nieces and nephews. Ethel was a memeb of a pioneer B.C. family (Lougheed) and spent most of her early life in B.C. After marrying in 1937 she spent many years in Eastern Canada finally returning west in the early 60's. Ethel's last several years were spent at Purdy Pavilion. Her family extends its sincere thanks to the many doctors, nurses, and caregivers who looked after Ethel in her final years. There will be no funeral at the request of the family. A memorial service will be held at a later date. All flowers gratefully declined. Anyone so wishing may make a donation to the charity of his or her choice in Ethel's memory.

67. Mrs. Karen Elizabeth5 Leith (Frances Hilda Thrower4 Fairey, Hilda Charlotte Philippa3 Gillanders, Clark Wesley2, Donald1) was born May 21, 1943 in Victoria, B.C., Royal Jubilee Hospital. She married John Peter William Farr August 28, 1965 in Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C.. He was born October 14, 1941 in Perth, Western Australia, St. Andrew's Hospital, Midland Junction.
Notes for Mrs. Karen Elizabeth Leith:
I completed a Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of B.C. when I was still living in Victoria. I lived in dorms at UBC where I met my future husband Peter Farr, an Australian from Perth, who was on a Canadian National Research Scholarship to do a Master's Degree in Applied Science at UBC. He also has an Economics degree from UWA and has worked most of his life in telecommunications. He also consults in other areas as a Toronto firm, Lords Cultural Resources Planning, in Australia. I contained my teaching qualifications (Graduate Diploma in Education) from Claremont Teacher College in 1978 when my children went to school, and have been teaching ever since. Peter worked briefly for B.C. Tel in the mid-sixties. We moved to Perth in August 1966. I loved the place but was very homesick for my people and wondered how those Irish immigrants felt so long ago.

My only sister, Jane, is also a teacher in Langley, B.C. She married Burns Maddin a vice-principal of a Langley High School. They live at Crescent Beach near White Rock and have two children Leith (20) and Laura (17). They are all keen hockey players. All of my grandparents started out as teachers and some of us have carried on the education dynasty.

Dear Margaret,
You have the correct person. My great grandmother was Arabella Holmes daughter of Wlliam Joseph Holmes and Charlotte McCullough. My maternal grandmother was Hilda Fairey nee Gillanders. My first cousin Randall Fairey is the chief researcher for our branch of the family. My husband Peter Farr and I have three adult children: Lisa Wood married to Roderick Wood who are parents to our three grandsons. To make records current their names are Nicholas John Wood (15-9-95),Toby Alexander Wood (3-8-97),and Isaac James Wood (8-6-2001). Our second daughter, Susan Vanessa Farr is now divorced from Anthony David Johnson and has reverted to her maiden name. There were no children from the marriage. Susan now resides in Sydney, NSW, Australia. Our third child Matthew Allan Peter Farr lives in Perth but is not married. My amazing mother lives in White Rock, British Columbia and will be ninety this December the 19th 2005. What about you? How can I assist? We took our first trip to the Eastern seaboard last May to see my niece graduate from University of Maine where she had an ice hockey scholarship. We stayed in Boston, Portland and Salem before driving through the lovely rural state of Vermont. We island hopped over Lake Champlain to Montreal where we stayed for four days walking the old city etc before taking a train to Quebec city which we loved. We then took a train to stay with an old school friend in Ottawa. My husband had to return to Perth to look after his own business while I went west to see my mother and sister. We would have liked to have explored Holmesville even found it on the map but like so many places in Australia the distances were too great.

Sincerely, Karen Farr

And in another letter, November 24, 2005
Hi Margaret,

Thanks for the update. According to the Holmes book, Dr Holmes lists also an aunt or cousin to "Mary"/ "Jane Richardson" as Mary Richardson who married Keppel Disney from whom Walt Disney was descended. The Disneys and the Holmes were neighbours back in Ireland. Mum says she wishes she had paid more attention to her mother's anecdotes now that she is the oldest link left alive. As a youngster she felt she was somehow related to half of the Fraser Valley. Growing up in Victoria I never knew the mainland connections except for first cousins.

I never had contact directly with Dr Holmes only through Kay Wise and Jo and Ruby Holmes in Kilkenny. Please tell him I realize what a wonderful mammoth effort it was to collate all that material. My cousin Randall washis source on family matters. If we only had all that land now that William Holmes once owned. My grandmother Hilda, says he and Colonel Moody gambled on New Westminster becoming the provincial capital and bought up huge tracks of land. As years went by taxes became great and some had to be sold. In those days the fact William had only daughters probably meant it was harder to make their investments work for them. Even so, Arabella financed homes for her own children either wholly or partially. Legend had it that Arabella was closer to her half sisters than her full sisters -kindred souls. They probably spoiled her.

How nice that you got a chance to know your half sister. It is fascinating how much our family is wound up in the history not only of BC but Canadian Pioneers. It can get addictive.

I have been saving my typed Christmas newsletters in a file in case anyone wants to know about our family in future generations. The Burnaby Museum had a fit when they knew Mum had saved information in boxes but if it were not for her a lot would have been lost.

I will send you copies of what could be of interest. You probably have much of the info.
